Marbling

oil paint or printer's ink
mix with turpentine to consistency of thin cream carefully dropped onto surface of a pan
of sized or plain water.
or flip it on in small spots.
consistency:
too thin — absorbed by the water
too thick — drop to bottom of pan

To size water: Spread over its surface dissolved glue flakes, mucilage, or a solution of gum arabic or gum tragacanth. Gum arabic must be dissolved in water & cooked for two or more hours in a double boiler. It may haveto be strained thru a cloth and thinned with water before it is used. Gum tragacanth is soaked in water for several hours until it swells. It is then boiled for several hours in a double boiler, to prevent it from burning.

To Print: A sheet of paper, which may be dampened first if desired, is laid slowly on the water, and when the paint adheres, is lifted up carefully & set aside to dry.

Troops Break Up Riot of Saigon Buddhists

Anti-U.S. Slogans Shouted

Monks, Nuns Defy Premier

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Buddhist groups rioted throughout Saigon today in demonstrations against Premier Tran Van Huong and the United States, which supports him. A mob smashed doors and windows of the U.S. Information Agency library.

About 450 yellow-robed monks and nuns set off the disorders by defying government orders against street demonstrations, and staging a noisy rally in front of the U.S. Embassy. They demanded an end to American support of Huong.

Wealthy Man Sentenced in Burglaries

A man with an estimated $2,500 monthly real estate income was sentenced to prison Thursday in Los Angeles for his role in a burglary ring that specialized in looting homes in wealthy neighborhoods.

Frank Thomas Teti, 49, and owner of two bars, two apartment buildings and two residences, was convicted of hiring Lawrence Blevins, 48, to perform daylight burglaries.

Officers described Blevins, now serving his fifth sentence for stealing, as a "professional" thief. They said his capture also solved some 400 Los Angeles area burglaries that netted about $385,000.

Clarence Barker, 39, said Teti provided Blevins with a pickup truck and gave him a free hand in selecting the neighborhood and homes he wished to burglarize. Barker, who turned state's witness and was given immunity, said he was the driver of the truck.

Police said that 20 houses were looted by the trio and that the stolen items were stored in a building owned by Teti.

Officers said when Teti was arrested last October, they found more than 200 stolen items — including TV sets, furs, jewelry and cameras — in a building he owned.

He was sentenced to from one to 15 years by Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler.

to be nowhere near the size of some recent street marches. Perhaps fewer than 2,000 persons participated.

Of the vandalism at the library, a U.S. spokesman said he did not regard it as an anti-American act.

"In any case it does not reflect the feeling of the majority of the Vietnamese people," he said.

Dozens Injured

Some 500 youths tried to join the monks and nuns in front of the embassy but troops halted them two blocks away.

The youths screamed insults at the troops and threw rocks. When the police fired tear gas at them, the youths broke into groups and moved on the U.S. Library, where they smashed doors and windows.

Several dozen demonstrators probably were injured in the fray.

The demonstration occurred on the third day of a "fast to the death" at Buddhist headquarters by five leading monks demanding the resignation of Premier Huong.

A Buddhist spokesman said over a loudspeaker during the demonstration at the embassy: "Up to now we have confined our antigovernment activities to the interior of our Buddhist headquarters. But the government has not respected this peaceful attempt by us to save Buddhism and has piled repression upon repression upon us.

"We have no other choice but to show our grievances publicly for the benefit of our countrymen and the world."

Despite the political turmoil in Saigon, the war against the Unbeaten Pasadena High tonight goes after the victory that can set up another title match with Muir.

The Bulldogs play at Burbank in quest of their fourth straight Football League victory. Should they pick up their fifth win of the season in the 8 p.m. game, they will assure themselves of going into the Nov. 20 game against Muir in the Rose Bowl with a perfect league record. Two Pasadena teams are the only remaining perfect-record league teams, but Muir has three to play. Pasadena plays two non-league games in the next two weeks (University of Los Angeles and Arcadia) prior to the season finale.

Tom Hamilton expects t have quarterback Mike Cobb who played with a severe kne injury last week, healthy again. The coach terms him the key player in his team' drive, "one of the best, if no the best, quarterback in th Foothill League."

Hamilton warns, however that "Burbank has a veterar
